A Love Story.

The other day we tried to write a story for a literary weekly. After having read two hundred numbers of the weekly, to get the "style," we wrote the following nameless love scene between the hero and the heroine:

He—"Do you love me?"

She—"When did I tell you?"

He—"You have not yet, but do you love me?"

She—"Have you been going with Mary Morris?"

He—"No: why?"

She—"I thought she might have told you I bought some caramels the other day. Did she?"

He—"She did not! But tell me, darling, do you love me?"

She—"Oh, I ask you, do you love me?"

He—"No, darling, you do not ask me—

She—"Then if I don't ask you, who do I ask?"

He—"You must ask yourself, do you love me?"

She—"Well, who's to answer, if I ask myself?"

He—"You must answer, darling."

She—"Is that all I've got to answer, —darling."

He—"Yes, darling,"

She—"Well—darling!"

There was a pause of sixteen seconds, and then he folded her (she was a regular map heroine—fourteen folds) in his strong arms, and just at that moment the angry lightning broke from the clouds, and striking the lightning-rod on top of the house, and descended harmlessly into the ground. The lovers have never known, to this day, what they escaped. —Fitzgerald.

Petticoat Lane.

A Londoner bought in Petticoat Lane, which is famous for its tags, rags, and bob-tails on sale, a coat in exchange for his own, paying in addition several shillings for the bargain. The coat not suiting him, he carried it back and exchanged it on payment of additional shillings for an apparently smoother and nicer one which fitted him exactly. On getting home and putting his hand in the pocket, he drew out a pawnbroker's ticket. It was his own, held against his watch. The nice new coat was the old one which he wore there the first time, and which had been cleaned, pressed, and sold to him again for about twice what it was worth.

Another of these tricks—which every one except those on whom they are played enjoys so much—was recently played on a German inn-keeper by a peddler who sold him an almanac, and then, on his wife's coming in and her husband's going out, sold her another copy. When the husband discovered it he sent the porter to the railroad station to tell the peddler he wanted to see him on business.

"Oh, yes," said the peddler, "I know, he wants one of my almanacs, but I can't miss my train for that. You can give me a quarter and take the almanac to him." The porter paid the money and carried a third almanac to the inn-keeper.

Useless Expenditure.

While every girl and woman should justly take a pride in her own adornment and that of the home; she should use her own judgment and not buy just because a thing is cheap. Get what you need, and before buying think whether you really need the article. It is probably a pretty trifle in dress, in furniture; but what solid benefit will it be to you? Or it is some luxury for the table, that you can as well do without. Think, therefore, before you spend your money. Or you need a new carpet, new sofa, new chairs, new bedstead, or new dress; you are tempted to buy something a little handsomer than you had intended, and while you hesitate the dealer says to you, "It's only a trifle more, and see how far prettier it is." But before you purchase, stop to think. Will you be the better a year hence, much less in old age, for having squandered your money? Is it not wiser to "lay by something for a rainy day?" All these luxuries gratify you only for the moment; you soon tire of them, and their only permanent effect is to consume your means.

It is by such little extravagances, not much separately, but ruinous in the aggregate, that the great majority of families are kept comparatively poor. The first lesson to learn is to deny yourself useless expenses; and the first step toward learning this lesson is to think before you spend.—Christian at Work.

AN OHIO girl sued a man for breach of promise, and proved him such a scoundrel that the jury decided that she ought to pay him something for not marrying her.—Modern Argo.

How much dispute one single dead man could settle if he would just come back and attend to it.—Seymour Times.

A Condemned Man's Little Daughter.

"Papa, dear papa, I'm glad you're going to die, for you know, papa, that if you were not going to die, you would be taken away off into a dark prison where I could never see you any more; and you know, papa, that would grieve you so much that you would not live very long anyhow, so I think everything is best as it is, don't you, papa? And I will grow up to be a big girl, and I will be so good, papa, that every one will love me, and I will never forget you, papa, nor how much you loved your little Mary." This strangely affecting speech was made in the St. Louis jail to a man who was to be hanged.

"WHY were you not at church last Sunday, Clara?" asked Amelia. Clara—"I couldn't; didn't have anything to wear. I shall go next Sunday if my sack is done." Amelia—"Oh, you sack-religious thing!"

THERE is, in all this cold and hollow world, no fount of deep, strong, deathless love, save that within a mother's heart.—Mrs. Hemans.

Our Government.

The following figures have been compiled showing the money paid to officials in governmental affairs:

The President	$50,000
Vice President	10,000
	$60,000
Expenses of the White House: To fairly estimate the expenses of the White House requires a careful scrutiny of the appropriation bills, as the items are not classed under this head, but are scattered under other headings, nor are they the same in any one year; but taking them at an average, and setting aside extraordinary disbursements it may be calculated that a fair annual estimate will be about	20,000
Secretary of State, Treasury, Interior, War, Navy, Postmaster and Attorney-General, $8,000 each	56,000
Total	$136,000

It is not so easy a matter to get at the precise cost of the Senate and the House of Representatives, as the expenses are more elaborate from conditions which have nothing to do with the difference between a monarchy and a republic. The office of a Senator and a member of the House of Representatives carries with it a salary, while the membership of the House of Lords and Commons carries none. It must also be remembered that the due fulfillment of his duties, by either Senator or Representative, involves long journeys, separation from business circles and peculiar expenses which do not occur in the other cases.

SENATE.
Appropriation for the Senators	$380,000
Compensation for mileage	33,000
Salaries for officers	199,000
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.
Appropriation for members	1,530,000
Salaries—Messengers, Clerks, Secretaries	200,000
Total	$2,348,000

Bringing our totals together we find that the cost of representative institutions in the United States, with a population of 50,000,000, is $2,348,000, or a capitation of five cents per head. It seems then that the proportionate cost of monarchical as against Republican institutions is as 2½ is to 1.

As we have not included the cost of the diplomatic service in the foregoing figures we will now proceed shortly to contrast the expenses of England and America so far as these items are concerned, for the purpose of showing how much more costly the representatives of a royal court are than the delegates of a republic. The total cost of the diplomatic service of Great Britain is $2,400,000, while the total cost of the same service of the United States is only $900,000.

With a view of enabling the reader to judge for himself we will contrast in columns side by side the expense of England and America to different countries.

	United States. Salary of Representative.	Great Britain. Salary of Ambassador.
France	$17,000	$50,000
Germany	17,000	42,000
Russia	17,000	46,000
Spain	12,000	28,000
Austria	12,000	40,000
Italy	12,000	36,000
Brazil	12,000	23,000
Japan	12,000	20,000
China	12,000	30,000

The same principle runs through the whole expenditure of both countries. Under the monarchy the tendency is to divide up large sums among a favored few, while the principle in republican government seems to be to pay only moderate salaries and to divide the duties over a large number.

Too Much Competition.

A delegation of Israelitish merchants called on Mose Schaumburg, who keeps a store on Austin avenue, and requested him as an Israelite and a friend of humanity, to contribute something handsome to a fund they were raising to help to bring over to Texas some of the persecuted Jews in Russia. Mose listened attentively, and then said, that nothing pleased him so much as to relieve a distressed Israelite, but that charity began at home, and he was in favor of the committee helping out an Austin Israelite who was a very worthy men, but in straightened circumstances, before doing anything for the relief of Jews in Russia.

"Who is that Austin Jew who is suffering so much?" asked the chairman of the delegation.

Mose patted himself on the breast, and said he was the suffering Israelite.

"Why, Mose, what are you suffering from?"

"Too many Jews," replied Mose, "Dere vash too much competition in pishness. Schentlemens, if you get up some scheme to remove apout half of the Jews to Russia, so dere vash not so much competitions in drade, I vill come down handsome mit five dollars, so help me schimminy gracious."

The committee filed sololmnly out into the street, and Mose will not be again requested to help bring over any more Israelites from Russia.—Texas Sifter.

Queen Victoria's Fortune.

It is usually supposed that the Queen has laid by a great deal of money and, acting on this supposition, it is asked why she can not provide for her family? As a matter of fact she has not. When Prince Albert died many of the State departments were in debt; these debts have been paid off. Some of them—such as that of the Master of the Horse, for which £10,000 per annum is allowed—always have to borrow from the other departments or from the Privy Purse. The Queen really does not put by as much as £20,000 per annum on an average of years. She has always given, I believe, £100,000 to each of her daughters who has married, and this has drained her savings.—London Truth.

A TENNESSEE man told a neighbor that he had hidden $500 in a corn-crib, and that very neighbor was the chap found in a bear trap at the corn-crib next morning.

THE very full synopsis of Mr. Blaine's evidence before the Shipherd investigating committee, which we publish to-day, will be read with general interest. Mr. Blaine exhibits much of his old fire, and shows up the Peruvian schemer in a way that will meet with very general approval.

THE supreme court of the District of Columbia, in banc, has fixed upon one week from next Monday to hear the argument of Guiteau's counsel on the bill of exceptions, looking to a new trial. Charles H. Reed represents Guiteau, Mr. Scoville having absolutely withdrawn from the case.

THE Senate bill to restore the franking privilege has received its quietus in the House, which refused without a division to pass the measure. Hon. J. G. Cannon participated in the debate which took place.

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., had a $250,000 fire yesterday afternoon, which destroyed four business and residence blocks, and left many people homeless.

MORRISON, the scoundrel who induced Charles Francis Adams to sign the check after persuading him into a gambling den, is a villain of colossal effrontery. After he had got the old man's signature to the check, he went to John Quincy Adams, the son, and told him that he had long watched the habits of his father and of the family; their goings in and their comings out, and knew all about them. "We have succeeded," he continued, "in getting the old man in our power, and all we want now is our money. Of course we expect that you will settle. You may think now you will not do so, but eventually you will. We have had several prominent Boston gentlemen in the same position before, and they have all settled." Turning to one of his companions, he said "Bill, how much was that check Mr. Whitemore gave us?" "Five thousand dollars," answered Bill. "Was it paid?" "Oh, certainly." Both of them then ran over a list of half a dozen aged gentlemen in the community who had been enticed into their den and who had cheerfully honored their signatures, appended to pretty large checks. "We expect," he said, that Mr. Adams will do the same thing. Of course it is an unpleasant thing for me to be the cause of so much family annoyance, but it is simply in the line of my business. I regret that the necessities of the case compelled me to select a gentleman of Mr. Adams' political, national and international reputation. But business is business. That is how I make my living. It might not be as legitimate as your business, but it has the same object—the making of money." The family bravely refused, however, preferring to let all the facts come out, even if it betrayed their father's condition, rather than encourage this kind of highway robbery. Beside, it was cheaper.

Imperial Feet Washing.

There is a curious custom connected with the Easter festivities in Austria, which is thus described by a Vienna correspondent, under date of April 6:

According to the old custom, the Easter religious Court ceremonies began to-day with the washing by their Majesties of the feet of twelve old men and women in the great hall of the Burg. The old men, ranging in age from 88 to 91, and the women from 89 to 96, who have been chosen from the many competitors for the honor, had received beforehand their suits of cloth and the money for the carriages to take them to the appointed place. Previous to the ceremony mass was read in the chapel, in which their Majesties and all the Archdukes and Archduchesses, the Crown Princess among them, attended. At ten o'clock the court assembled, including the Generals and high dignitaries, a select number of spectators being admitted to the galleries. The old men and women, attired in ancient German costumes, were then led in and seated at the table, the men to the right, the women to the left. The Chamberlains followed, the Privy Councillors and the clergy, and after them the Laidies-in Waiting, the Archdukes and Archduchesses, and their Majesties, conducted by the Master of the Imperial Kitchen. Pages brought in the dishes, which were placed by the Emperor before the men and by the Empress before the women. The food, however, was not touched. The Archdukes and ladies of the palace removed the dishes and the table. Then, the men and women being seated in two rows, the clergy began to read the sacred story in commemoration of which the ceremony takes place, and their Majesties poured water on the feet of the old men and women and dried them again. This performed, each of the people received a bag with thirty pieces of silver, and the court withdrew, while the men and women were taken in court carriages to their homes, where the above mentioned dishes were set before them. This is but the first of these ceremonies, which go on until Easter, and are kept with great solemnity, in conformity with the feelings of the people, who almost live just now in the streets and churches.

WALKING SHOES for $1.00 at Barber & Baker's. April 15 d&wtf

WASHINGTON, April 24.—The balance of the week promises to be interesting in congress, for it is understood that the ways and means committee will yield to the election cases, and the parties will lock horns at once in a struggle of party against party, as the first thing will be the Chalmers-Lynch case, and in the course of it Lynch will make a speech in which he will blister and scarify the Bourbons without mercy. He will uncover the ghastly methods whereby the ballot-box is made to yield a harvest of lies and the elective franchise is made a pretentious mockery. He will show the methods Chalmers used to be elected, or rather returned, for he was never elected, the votes aginst him, through the intervention of his law partner, he had counted for him, and others thrown out cast for his opponent by the accommodating returning board. Lynch's address in his own behalf will be an event unlike anything heard before for many a day in the house. Not since the forty-fourth congress has a colored man raised his voice in those halls. It will be an occasion long to be remembered when a negro shall address the speaker and the country in behalf of his race, refused representation for over six years in the American Commons. A crowd will fill the galleries and applaud his defiance to his Bourbon oppressors in behalf of his people. The event is looked forward to with more interest here than any congressional proceedings since the day Mahone in the senate flung down the gauntlet at the feet of Ben Hill, and declared that he was the custodian of his own democracy.

JOLIET, ILL., April 24.—A severe panic has been prevalent here since Friday, because of the rapid spread of small pox, which was brougut here from Chicago by the son of a German gunsmith, and through the imprudence of the family given to others. Twenty seven cases are reported already, and vigorous measures have been taken to check the disease. Schools and churches are closed. Vaccination has been made compulsory. Another ward has been added to the hospital. Cases have been isolated. Special police have been detailed and the infected houses cleaned thoroughly. The secretary of the board of health of the state is in full sympathy with the measures taken.

NEWS BY TELEGRAPH.

BLAINE

Hangs the Scalp of Shipherd at his Belt.

Other Washington News.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Guiteau seems entirely satisfied with Charles H. Reed as counsel, Mr. Reed today asked two weeks to prepare for a hearing, which was granted by the court.

The Zuni Indians, on leaving, took sacred water from the ocean, and shells to be ground into sacred meal. They also took away everything given them, even to a scrap of paper containing a name.

It is probable the whole week will be spent over the election cases, perhaps longer. The democrats are determined to fight it out to the bitter end. They say they never will consent to see a colored man take the place of Chalmers if they can help it.

The fact that Secretary Folger's letter to the senate finance committee opposes the extension of the bonded period of whisky, will hardly prevent the passage of the bill in the senate. The general sentiment of the party is that the extension of the bonded period is the least that can be done to relieve this industry from the burden of taxation.

Senator Logan is expected back soon, greatly improved.

The Kilbourne-Thompson verdict is still the subject of much comment. Congressmen avow openly their unwillingness to pay the damages assessed, and assert that Thompson didn't make sufficient effort to protect himself and congress. It is not improbable the verdict may be set aside on grounds of excessive damages and one of $25,000 awarded.

There was quite a tilt between Mr. Robeson, of New Jersey, and Mr. Cox, of New York, to-day, over the question of giving preference to Union soldiers on the police force in Washington. Mr. Robeson held that the committee had so changed the law in the bill offered as to strike out the section requiring the appointment of Union soldiers as policemen, and took occasion to eulogize the soldiers warmly. Cox asked what regiment he (Robeson) belonged to, and Robeson replied, to the same as he (Cox) did, "The Home Guards." A long and rather acrimonious discussion followed, Cox regretting that old issues should be brought up, while Robeson took occasion to eulogize the soldiers, and to score the committee for attempting to shut them out. The debate was quite interesting, and attracted a good deal of attention. The scales were turned in Robeson's favor by Mr. Holman, of Indiana, who spoke against the change, saying that even a democratic congress had never suggested such a thing as this.

Ex-Secretary Blaine appeared before the foreign relations committee, to day, in connection with the Shipherd case. He stated that he knew Shipherd; had read his testimony, and "endeavored to understand it." Blaine said he never saw or heard of Shipherd's letter in the state department, until Shipherd was introduced to him by Senator Blair. Such trashy matters as Shipherd's letters would never be called to the attention of the secretary, as they were scarcely fit for the waste basket. The witness said he knew nothing whatever as to how the letter came to be missing from the files. The first interview with Shipherd, so far as lasting late into the night, only lasted fifteen minutes, and witness did not see Shipherd again for nearly three months. Blaine then produced what he stated was the entire correspondence between himself and Hurlbut during the latter's administration at Lima. Mr. Blaine said: "Shipherd came to me and stated he was the representative of a very important claim called the Cochet claim. I had never before heard of it, and asked him how he spelled the name. He told me Senator Blair was one of his counsel, and also added the names of ex-Senator Conkling, Hon. Scott Lord, ex-Senator Cragin and others. I thought it a very strong array of counsel. He named about a dozen prominent financiers and bankers and included the Seligmans, Morton, Bliss & Co. and others. I mention these facts because I have been criticised for not kicking Shipherd out of the department the first morning he called; but when a man comes introduced by a United States senator, with three ex Senators and an ex-secretary of the treasury as counsel, and an array of backers such as he mentioned, it would hardly be the custom of the department to kick him out on sight. This explains why I did not do what I virtually did do later." Blaine then related the points of his conversation with Shipherd in which he (Shipherd) read what he claimed to be the opinions of ex-Secretary Evarts, to the effect that Cochet could claim one-third of the guano. Blaine said, with much emphasis: "I would be willing to take a most solemn oath that President Garfield died without ever having heard of this vile scheme, or ever having heard the name of Cochet mentioned."

Mr. Trescott, at Blaine's dictation, wrote the dispatch to Hurlbut telling him he no doubt would be placed in possession of the facts concerning the Cochet claim, but he must take no steps towards committing the government thereto till he received further definite instructions. Mr. Hurlbut replied that the Legation had nothing but vague statements regarding the claim, and could take no judicial steps.

On November 17, Blaine instructed Hurlbut not to extend the good offices of this government to the purchasers of the claim. Shipherd's letter referring to the defective title of the claim, which has already been published, was read. To this Blaine replied that he took pleasure in commending Hurlbut's action in sending hither the correspondence in the case, and added: "Perhaps I should mitigate somewhat the severity of my language in view of the possibility of the fact that Shipherd is not wholly in his right mind." This ended the correspondence between the State Department and Hurlbut on the Cochet claim.

In regard to Shipherd's story about the $250,000 bribe, offered to Hurlbut, the following letter was read:

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Hon. Jas. G. Blaine: Dear Sir:—I never heard Shipherd state to you that he had offered Hurlbut $250,000 in stock. I never heard that he made such an offer until I read it in the published reports of his evidence before the Foreign Affairs Committee.
HENRY W. BLAIR.

Mr. Blaine read similar letters of denial from Ex-Secretary Boutwell, Scott Lord, ex-Senator Cragin and William H. Robertson, and raised a general laugh by adding, "There is a very large lie out there, and I don't think it will require a very searching investigation to locate it."

Blaine then read his (Blaine's) correspondence with Secretary Evarts, in which the latter denied that Shipherd had any authority in quoting him in any way; that he had never given any opinion, or been asked to give any whatever, in regard to the Cochet claim; and that he was absent in Europe and did not know until his return, and then only through the public prints, that Shipherd had been using his name. "I have not," said Blaine, "the slightest hesitation in saying that this man Shipherd should be sent before the grand jury. It is flat, unequalified perjury on his part, that ought to be properly punished."

Blaine read a letter from Mr. Elmore, the Peruvian Minister, in which the following passage occurs! "In regard to my alleged statement that I had seen the marginal note, 'Go in, Steve,' I need not assure you it is absolutely false."

Chairman Williams reminded the witness that he had not yet supplemented this statement of Elmore's with any denial of his own, to which Blaine quickly responded, "Oh, oh! It is an absolute, detestable, out-of-the-whole-cloth lie, and I do not think the man is of sound mind."

Mr. Blaine then desired to say something in relation to the interview between Shipherd and Hurlbut, inasmuch as Shipherd's version involved the good name of a dead President and a dead Minister. He then read Shipherd's version, and with the remark, "With both of these gentlemen dead, it may be a matter of some difficulty to disprove these statements except inferentially, but I believe them to be the grossest falsehoods, and will endeavor to show that to be the case." He then pointed out the absurdity of Shipherd's version that he met Hurlbut by the latter's appointment, and that they sat upon a sofa in the public corridor and held such an interview as Shipherd described, and utterly discredited any other explanation than that, Shipherd, seeing by the papers that Hurlbut was at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, waylaid him, and second, a merely casual chat in the public hall. Blaine characterized, in his most forcible language, the assumption of Shipherd in assuming to speak for President Garfield, as simply infamous, and with eloquent vehemence declared that he was prepared to take a most solemn oath, so firm were his convictions, that President Garfield went to his death without ever having seen or heard of Shipherd or his claim.

At this point Mr. Blaine called attention to some of the questions asked Shipherd by Belmont concerning the Landreau claim, which he said put words in his (Blaine's) mouth which he did not use.

Belmont refused to discuss the question at this time, and the committee adjourned till Wednesday, when the examination of Blaine will be resumed.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Secretary Folger's letter in opposition to the Carlisle bill was laid before the senate finance committee this morning, and fully discussed, but no action was taken. The committee adjourned till to-morrow morning at ten o'clock, when the matter will be resumed. Secretary Folger strongly opposes the indefinite extension of the bonded period for whisky, and he considers the leakage allowed as excessive, and does not approve of the liberty given for distillers to transport to any bonded warehouse within the same districts the products of their stills. He holds that it would enable distillers to take advantage of the government in the event of a panic or great depreciation in value in whisky by leaving it indefinitely in the hands of the government.

Boydell, one of the parties in the star route cases, who was discharged by Judge Wylie because of misnomer, was rearraigned in the police court to-day. His bond for $5,000 was continued, and the case went over until to-morrow.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 24.—Mr. Dezendorf, of Virginia, introduced a bill in the House to-day appropriating $1,000,000 for the purchase of a plat of ground containing not more than 25 acres, and the erection of a proper building, with suitable accommodations, for the residence of the President of the United States. The present building used as such residence is to be set apart for an executive office for the use of the President. A committee, to consist of the Secretaries of War and Interior the Attorney General, and one member each from the Senate and House, will be appointed to determine the location, price, value and validity of title to the plat, the price for which shall not exceed $25,000. The Engineer in Chief of the Armory, and the Architect of the Capitol may be added to the commission, and advertisements for designs and plans for the building are to be made by the commission. The work is to be done by day labor.

CINCINNATI, O., April 24.—The Times-Star Greenburg, Ind., special says: A mob of fifty masked men at 3 o'clock this morning called on the jailer at this place, and by choking him tried to get the keys, but failed. They then knocked in the door, took out O. M. Garrett, hung him to a silver maple tree ten feet from the jail, and left, after placing the following placard on his body: "This is greeting to the Jennings county jury." Garrett had been acquitted in Jennings county, where his case was taken on a change of venue, of complicity in the assassination of Mr. Walton by a negro, named Frazier, and after acquittal had been arrested on another charge. There are fears that the mob will next hang Frazer and Mrs. Walton.

SILVERWARE

CHEAP FOR A FEW DAYS.

We are about to REFIT OUR ENTIRE STORE. New Wall Cases will be put in on both sides, in order to give us a great deal more show case room than we now have.

Our new Cases will be ready April 15th; our old ones are sold and part of them shipped. We have either to sell off all CLOCKS and SILVERWARE, or else pile them up in the back room for three weeks.

We therefore will offer a discount of 10 per cent from the price of ALL CLOCKS, CASTERS, ICE PITCHERS, CAKE BASKETS, TEA SETS and all kinds of SILVERWARE bought of us between now and April 15th, 1882.

This 10 per cent discount will be given off from prices already lower than can be found in Decatur. If you think of getting a Clock, or any article of Silverware soon, it will pay you to buy now.

When our store is completed, we will be better able to display lots of goods we have been obliged to keep in drawers and the safe, and intend to enlarge our already large variety of goods.

Yours Respectfully,

THE STREET RAILWAY.

The Work of Extending It South to Wood Street Commenced To-Day.

Another improvement of special interest to patrons of Decatur's up-town hotels, and the public in general, was inaugurated early this morning. Mr. Priest, president of the Decatur Horse Railway and Carrying company, having received the permission of the city council to extend the street railway track south from the New Deming hotel across the old square to the north side of Wood street, the work was commenced to-day, and the track will be laid as rapidly as possible and in conformity with the special ordinance granting the extension privilege. It is Mr. Priest's purpose to lay the track across the old square without doing any grading whatever. The pine ties that will be procured from a lumber yard will be laid in the ground, the tops of which will be even with the surface of the square. On these ties the rails will be laid and securely fastened. Wide planks will be placed on the outside of the rails, so that teams may cross and recross without the least inconvenience.

When the track is in shape for use as far south as Wood street, the line will be more generally patronized by the traveling public, who desire to reach the hotels as quickly as possible. Cars will then communicate directly with the New Deming, the St. Nicholas and the Palace hotels, and our home people will have less difficulty in making close connection with the cars, as they can be seen from four or five different directions crossing the old square, returning from or going to the Union depot.

We are pleased to note Mr. Priest's enterprise, and hope he will be favored with fine weather while the extension is being made.

Another Love Conquest.

On Sunday last a number of Decatur people boarded the early morning passenger train on the Wabash road, and started for St. Louis on a pleasure and sight-seeing jaunt. Nothing of special interest occurred until the train stopped at Staunton, when the attention of all on board was attracted to what appeared to be a large bridal party on the depot platform. The Decaturites were specially interested in the bride and groom, the latter being no less a personage than Capt. C. A. Minckley, formerly an auctioneer on Merchant street, this city. He was "dressed to kill" and his moustache was raven black. His silk hat shone resplendent even on that cloudy morning, and his whole appearance indicated that he was a freshly made Benedict. The bride was richly attired in silk and satin, and wore a white hat decorated with streaming ribbons and feathers. Our informant states that he was unable to learn the name of the captain's latest better half, because the groom's whole attention was absorbed in conversation with his chosen partner, but she is probably the daughter of some wealthy merchant at Staunton, or of some well-to-do farmer residing in that neighborhood. The couple certainly had hosts of friends at Staunton, as they were out in full force bidding the twain affectionate farewells.

A Damaging Runaway.

This forenoon the team attached to Mr. Fred Kuny's ornamental delivery wagon, standing hitched in front of the Decatur Bottling Works, on Jackson street, became frightened at a passing express wagon, broke away and started northward at a terrific rate of speed. They came to a standstill among the trees and hitching racks near Andy Dunston's blacksmith shop, the crash damaging the wagon to the extent of about $30 or $40. The most serious injury, however, was that received by one of Mr. Kuny's favorite driving horses, that in the rush up the street had a long splinter run through the pastern joint of the right hind leg, the piece of wood tearing one of the arteries. It is feared that this $150 horse will be a victim of tetanus or lockjaw, though Mr. Bivans, the veterinary surgeon, is doing all in his power to prevent such an affliction, which would certainly result in death.

Mrs. Joseph Mills' Birthday Present.

Last Friday was the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Mills, wife of the newly-elected first ward alderman, Mr. Joseph Mills, and as a fitting surprise, which was made complete by careful management, Mr. Mills presented his wife with a new and elegant phæton, built to order at the "Keystone Carriage Works" by the Wayne Bros. If there is anything that will contribute to the pleasure and comfort of a woman more highly prized than another, it is a handsome phæton like unto the one now possessed by Mrs. Mills. It has a popular platform spring, is beautifully ornamented, and is substantial and attractive in every respect. The Wayne Bros. have an enviable reputation as fine carriage and buggy builders, and Mrs. Mills' phæton is another evidence that these manufacturers well deserve the praise and patronage they have received since they began business here.

THE LADIES of the 2d ward connected with the 1st M. E. church will hold a sociable in the lecture room, on Thursday evening, April 27th. The festival oyster having gone north to spend the summer, compels the ladies to substitute strawberries and cream, ice cream and cake, sandwiches and coffee, etc., and make the occasion one of interest and profit. Come and have a good time. COMMITTEE.

THE Ashby dwelling, purchased by Mrs. Dr. Randall, is to be moved off that lot on East Eldorado street, and placed on a lot fronting on North street near the Catholic church. Part of the Ashby lot will be purchased by Mr. W. C. Johns, and the remainder will become a part of the Randall premises.

ONE dealer ventures the assertion that there are not 50 head of good stock cattle to be had in Macon county at the present time. And he avers that he knows what he is talking about. He was in Chicago on Thursday last, and the only choice cattle offered for sale were 250 head from this county.

Joy, Joy to the World.

If you meet a man who looks as if he had lost all his friends, had his house burned down and business destroyed, just make up your mind that he either has dyspepsia or his liver is out of order. The best thing you can do for such a woe-begone individual is to advise him to go to Dr. A. J. Stoner's drug store and get a bottle of Dr. Jones' Red Clover Tonic, which will cure him without fail. Also an infallible remedy for pimples and blotches on the face. Only 50 cents a bottle. 4

GEORGE NEWICK'S LAST HOURS.

He Knew he was About to Die, and Gave Directions as to the Disposition of his Body.

Last evening between four and five o'clock an English shoemaker named George Newick, who was 61 years of age last March, and has been in the employ of Oscar Williamson and other shoemakers in this city during the past nine years, called upon Nebinger & Reeser at their leather supply house on North Water street, and after talking awhile about commonplace matters, he told them that he felt he would die soon, probably within two weeks, and he wanted the gentlemen named to take charge of his body and send it to his brother, Walter Newick, at Beetown, Grant county, Wis., for burial. This strange request rather startled Mr. Reeser and Mr. Nebinger, but they consented to do as they were bidden, at the same time receiving from Newick $66 in money he left with them to pay expenses that might be incurred. Mr. Newick was under the influence of liquor at the time, but he did not appear to be in a condition to occasion alarm. Soon after Newick left the store and passed over the crossing. On reaching the pavement at the corner of the First M. E. Church, the old gentleman fell backward suddenly, having experienced a paralytic stroke that rendered him unconscious. Friends rushed to his relief and bore him to the Drake Hotel, where he was given a comfortable room. An examination by Dr. F. S. Grimes disclosed the fact that in falling Newick had struck the back of his head against the stone curbing, but the rim of the felt hat he wore prevented a fracture of the skull, and there was no appearance of the scalp being cut. It was only slightly bruised. It was also discovered that the entire left side of the unfortunate Englishman was paralyzed. It was thought last night that the man would die, but he received the best of attention and was alive—though seemingly in a dying condition—at 10 o'clock this forenoon.

This morning Dr. Grimes called Dr. W. J. Chenoweth to consult with him in regard to the case, and they agreed that Newick was suffering with extravasation of blood on the brain, or apoplexy.

DEATH OF NEWICK.

At fifteen minutes past eleven o'clock this forenoon Newick died, being attended in his last moments by Dr. Grimes, Mr. Reeser and others. The body of the deceased will be prepared for the coffin, and to-morrow it will be sent to Beetown, Wis., by American express over the Illinois Central railroad, by Nebinger & Reeser, to whom Newick spoke his last intelligible words on earth.

The deceased inherited about $3,000 from a deceased brother, beside whose remains he will be laid at rest in the Beetown cemetery. With part of this sum he purchased the Union house property on East Main street, which is now owned by the American Vapor Stove company. It is stated that Newick had about $2,000 in cash in Wisconsin at the time of his death.

The body will remain at Drake's hotel until it is removed to the depot to-morrow morning.

A Contract for a Year.

While looking about the Decatur coal shaft on yesterday afternoon a REPUBLICAN commissioner was informed by Superintendent White that the Indiana, Bloomington & Western folks had contracted with his company to furnish the St. Louis Division (old L. D. & S. line), with six carloads of Decatur coal each day, the same to be delivered in cars on the track at the shaft. This immense consignment of coal is to be taken to Indianapolis every day, and there dumped into the tenders of the L. B. & W. locomotives. Decatur is much preferred to Indiana coal, because there is less wastage to it and because it makes steam faster. This contract stands good for one year, and yesterday the Decatur company supplied the first six carloads of coal, which were seen upon the side track by the reporter. Supt. White also stated that he has taken out of the mine thus far about 16,000 tons of coal, and is working 50 men daily.

Sunday Rates to St. Louis.

In order to enable all to visit the great city of St. Louis, and enjoy a few hours among its parks and gardens on Sundays, the Wabash, St. Louis and Pacific railway have placed on sale at all stations on the St. Louis division, at the following low figures, excursion tickets to St. Louis and return: From Decatur, $3.55; from Boody, $3.30; from Blue Mound, $3.10; from Stonington, $2.95; from Willeys $2.85; from Taylorville, $2.70. Tickets will be sold every Sunday, and will only be good westward on the morning train, and returning on the Sunday evening train of the day and date of sale. 25 5d.

Excursion.

The Illinois Midland will run an excursion train to Arcola to-morrow (Wednesday) on the occasion of the Odd-Fellows' celebration. The train will leave the Midland depot in Decatur at 6:45 A. M., and will start from Arcola on the return trip at 6.30 P. M. Fare for the round trip, $1.20.

The Keystone of Health.

How can you expect to feel well, or even enjoy life, when you go about with a hacking cough? The fool, in his wisdom, says there is no cure for it, but the wise man hies him to Dr. A. J. Stoner's drug store, and gets a bottle of Dr. Bigelow's Positive Cure, and at once gets well. A trial bottle costs nothing. 4

Another Iowa Excursion.

The Illinois Central railroad will run another excursion to Manson, Storm Lake, Cherokee and Lemars, Iowa, leaving Decatur at 6:05 a. m., Tuesday, May 9. Fare for the round trip only $12. Return tickets good for 30 days. If you want cheap homes in this paradise of the west, where crops are abundant, money plenty, and the inhabitants handsome, healthy and happy, go on the excursion to Iowa. Remember the date—May 9th, and rate—only $12 for the round trip.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Bert Hildebrandt is now with W. W. Wilcox at the board of trade.

David Hutchison is getting ready to enter upon his duties as city attorney.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Thompson, of Peoria, are visiting relatives in the city for a few days.

William Archer has again commenced selling the "Front Rank" vapor stoves, manufactured at Cleveland, Ohio.

Jerome Capen and Mr. Hardy, two commercial travelers from Bloomington, did Decatur last night and to-day.

Supervisor VanLeer, of Friends Creek, and Dr. Dempsey, of Warrensburg, were in the city yesterday.

Hon. O. C. Sabin, of Washington, D. C., late of Saybrook, Ill., was a guest at the New Deming Hotel last night.

Mrs. W. Corwin Johns is expected to arrive home from Philadelphia the latter part of the present week. She is very much improved in health.

Ichabod Baldwin has drawn plans of the third floor of the Masonic building, soon to be erected on the corner east of J. L. Fenton's residence.

Eli Ulery, of Mt. Zion, was in the city to-day, and when seen by our reporter he and I. Baldwin were cracking jokes together.

Hon. Schuyler Colfax lectured at Danville last night. His subject was: "The Two Martyred Presidents, Lincoln and Garfield." Mr. Colfax would be greeted by a large audience, should some society engage him to deliver that lecture in Decatur.

Bloomington Pantagraph: Mr. Steve McWhorter, of Decatur, is in the city; also Mr. Herb Rollins, who on to-day will start for Neal City, Neb., where he owns a cattle ranch. Mr. Harry Rollins will arrive here from Decatur in a day or two and remain some time. Mr. Will Wilcox has taken his place as manager of the Decatur board of trade. Rumor says Mr. Harry Rollins is soon to wed a lovely and wealthy Decatur belle.

A Funny Troupe.

To-morrow evening we are to have Hyde & Behman's Star Specialty Company at the opera house, and there will be plenty of fun for two hours and a half. This troupe is similar to the "Muldoon's Blunders" party that was here recently. Of the Star company said the Buffalo Courier:

The Marionette performances of John and Louisa Till were a show in themselves. Alfred Liston displayed marked ability in his xylophone solos. Clara Moore gave three change character songs in good style. The acrobatic exercises of Harry and Willie Martell were of remarkable excellence; and aided by Minnie Martell, they gave a fine exhibition of bicycle riding. W. T. Bryant and Lizzie Richmond appeared in an amusing musical sketch. Harry Watson, Charles Ellis and Alice Hutchings created a furore in their Dutch act. Miss St. George Hussey has rare power as a male character impersonator, and her stage business is unusually good; her selections were well received. Watson and Ellis's funny sketch called "Wrinkles" sent everybody home without any wrinkles in their faces.

Popular prices.

A Good Take.

There was a splendid take of reserved seats at Curtis & Co's this morning for John McCullough Friday night. Said the New York Herald: "As Virginius Mr. John McCullough carries a talisman of success with any audience. It had warmed the hearts of Americans to him, and when in old Drury Lane, London, he knocked with it at the hearts of Englishmen they opened unto him. A tumult of applause greeted him at the Fifth Avenue theater last night, and applause waited on him to the close of the play. Nothing in his surroundings detracted from the impressions produced by his acting. Looking carefully at his performance, a growing delicacy of shading a more exquisite and more certain touch upon the keynotes of emotion—was perceptible."

HERE is a stock item of interest: "E. Carson, one of the leading stock farmers of Paxton, has sold 111 head of fat cattle averaging 1,668 pounds, at $7.15 per 100, at his farm. The aggregate of the sale was $13,245.37 or $119.34 per head. They were purchased by Frank Scott, of Paxton, for Nels. Morris, of Chicago, and are now on the way to Liverpool. He also sold at the same time a bull weighing 2,120 pounds, at 6 cents per pound, which brought $127.20. The fat cattle were all grade Durhams and the last of his winter feeding, he having sold during the winter about an equal number and of really a better average quality."

Everybody Should Have One.

We have received from the publishers, R. H. Curran & Co., Boston, a magnificent picture of "Garfield and his family," which, as a work of art, surpasses in merit all of the other pictures of the late president and his loved ones. The editor of Zion's Herald—himself a competent art critic—says of this work:

R. H. Curran & Co., 12 Pemberton Square, issue the finest picture that has been published of the Garfield family. We have seen several which purport to be prepared under the supervision of Mrs. Garfield; but she has absolutely denied the claim, and the portraits are simply caricatures. We have examined the family photographs in connection with this picture, and find the latter wonderfully exact. The grouping is admirable, and the plate will be a great ornament upon the wall, as well as perpetuate the memory of one of the noblest statesman of the Republic.

Canvassers are wanted for this work.

DECATUR, ILL., APRIL 25, 1882.

EDUCATIONAL NOTES.

There were twenty-five applicants at the April examination for teachers last Friday. Nineteen of this number were awarded certificates for one year.

John A. Smith has resigned his school at Long Creek and removed to Decatur. He will build a house and reside here permanently.

A GOOD THERMOMETER.

There are but few factories in the United States turning out thermometers, but notwithstanding this fact every school room in Macon county is supplied with one of "home make." We do not allude to the instrument on the wall but to the teacher's desk. This article of furniture is the best thermometer of the condition of the work, books, slates, in fact everything connected with the school. We know of nothing which takes the place of the desk as an index to the condition of the school. Is the teacher's desk neatly dusted and well kept? Then look to see good order and neatness throughout the room. Are the books and papers on the instructor's desk all topsy turvy? Then expect to see the books and papers of the pupils all disarranged. A close inspection of the teacher's desk at any time during school hours will indicate the condition of the pupils' desk also. We have noted as a matter of curiosity as well as fact, the length of terms and the condition of the teacher's desk compared with those of the pupils in these schools. In every single instance where the teacher has been retained for several terms or years, the desk is a certain index to the system, government, &c., of the school. If the influence of the teacher's example in his systematic, or lack of systematic, care of his books and papers is such as to actually influence the life habits of his pupils, what then must be the result of a careless selection of teachers? If the example thus influences the general or special order of the school-room, what must be the influence of that teacher who is careless about his speech, manners and every-day walk? How many of us can point to the person whose influence either ruined us or made us men and women? As persons grown to maturity, how many of us point with pride to some teacher whose influence is with us to-day, even though he be in the grave? Parents, you have a right to use your influence to secure good teachers. You can do this by kindly speaking to those in authority and giving reasons for retaining those who are proved and known to be upright, honest and systematic in their teaching.

Let us select the best teachers. T.

Vicissitudes of Fashion.

From the New York Times.

It is noticeable in New York when a fashion among the women becomes common, that is, when "salesladies," hard-worked shop-girls, and lazy and pampered cooks and housemaids begin to imitate the styles set two or three months before by the toiling leaders of society, that such styles are dropped by the so-called leaders. So we have seen the jaunty and effective feather turbans fall from grace. It is not long ago that they were worn right and left by the belles of Murray Hill and the aristocratic regions around the park. Then they began to appear on Sixth and Eighth avenues. The belles began to give them up. Then the "salesladies" took to them. They were banished from what are called in society papers the elite circles. At last the shop girls and housemaids began to wear them, and they were flung aside by the "salesladies." To-day the misguided female who unblushingly appears in a feather turban may safely be regarded as a second-class cook, who washes her own dishes and makes her own bed—menial offices which no self respecting and truly ladylike cook ever thinks of performing—and who is employed by some large family or boarding house on the East side.

Never Give Up.

If you are suffering with low and depressed spirits, loss of appetite, general debility, disordered blood, weak constitution, headache, or any disease of a bilious nature, by all means procure a bottle of Electric Bitters. You will be surprised to see the rapid improvement that will follow; you will be inspired with new life; strength and activity will return; pain and misery will cease, and henceforth you will rejoice in the praise of Electric Bitters. Sold at 50 cents a bottle by Hubbard & Swearingen. 5

"MURDERED by the State of Missouri" should be the epitaph of Mr. Jesse James, according to the Sedalia Democrat. It is very sad, indeed, but so long as he was "murdered" we do not care particularly by whom. However, rather than make a fuss about it, we would allow the rest of the gang to be hung in an orderly manner.

A Novel and Perfect Cure for Scrofula Salt Rheum, Cancer, Etc.

Gentlemen—My wife has for some time been afflicted with something like a scrofulous disease, and found no relief until she gave your Extract of Red Clover a trial. I am happy to say she has experienced great relief. This is but a slight testimonial of my appreciation of your efforts in behalf of humanity, which you are welcome to use for their benefit. CHEAP GOODS are the result of judicious purchases from first hands, and the largest sales with the least expense. That we have attained this end is a pretty well established fact. And though we call attention in our advertisements to special articles, there are no departments and no articles in departments, from the smallest to the largest, that will not bear the same scrutiny. We hold that merchants are as much bound to adhere to the truth in their advertisements as farmers or mechanics in their business transactions; and that misrepresentations are resorted to where there is no merit, and for the purpose of deceiving the plain unsuspecting class, who can least afford the deception, which robs them of their dues. Goods constantly change in styles and prices, so that the most experienced merchants find it difficult to determine values; and the seeming artlessness which invests the ordinary buyer, or the "intelligent public" with a knowledge of merchandise, that nine merchants in ten do not possess, may be very flattering indeed, but this observation is only made to lull persons into security in order to practice a still greater deception. There is no law to punish dealers for representing their purchases as coming direct from importers and manufacturers, when the facts are against them. Nor for giving special reasons for marking down goods, after six weeks untiring labor, TWO HUNDRED PER CENT. BELOW COST. But the dealer who indulges in such misrepresentations on paper will do so over the counter; consequently to show courtesy where it does not belong, or to AFFECT a regard for the integrity of all competitors might seem very magnanimous were it not for these palpable evidences to the contrary. We invite the most critical investigation to what we say and do in DRY GOODS and CARPETS; also to every other article of merchandise composing our stock.

A Fated Family.

Macon Independent.

Mrs. Mosby died of small-pox at her home in Shelby county, a mile south of the county line last Tuesday, leaving but one child, a little boy 6 years old. Mr. Mosby was engaged in feeding cattle for Mr. Sandige when young Sandige was stricken with small-pox at the same time with Alvin Cecil, and it carried him away. Two children soon followed their father, and now Mrs. Mosby is gone. But one member of the family is left, and he owes his life to vaccination. Medical skill was powerless to battle against the malignancy of confluent small-pox, for every person afflicted with it in this region died. It is sad to contemplate a single survivor of an ill-fated family being thrown upon the world at so tender an age in absolute destitute circumstances.

Disease is an effect, not a cause. Its origin is within; its manifestations without. Hence, to cure the disease the cause must be removed, and in no other way can a cure ever be effected. WARNER'S SAFE KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE is established on just this principle. It realizes that of all diseases arise from deranged kidneys and liver, and it strikes at once at the root of the difficulty. The elements of which it is composed act directly upon these great organs, both as a food and restorer, and, by placing them in a healthy condition, drive disease and pain from the system.

For the innumerable troubles caused by unhealthy Kidneys, Liver and Urinary Organs; for the distressing Disorders of Women; for Malaria, and for physical derangements generally, this great remedy has no equal. Beware of impostors, imitations and concoctions said to be just as good.

DECATUR, ILL.

To any person suffering from indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaints, kidney complaints, lung troubles, skin disease or general debility arising from any cause whatever, who purchase a bottle of FLEURY'S WA-HOO TONIC, takes it according to directions (once each day at bed-time,) for one month and says benefit has not been received by its use the money will be refunded upon presentation of the bottle. Each bottle contains one quart of medicine and costs one dollar. It is unquestionably the very best tonic, blood purifier and general system renovator ever produced, and is purely vegetable. Try it, and you will be astonished at its wonderful effect upon the human system. Nine hundred and fifteen bottles have been sold at retail in the city of Springfield during the past nine weeks and all say who have tried it—"It is the best medicine we have ever used."

A POPULAR TONIC

For Weak Lungs and Consumption.

No preparation ever introduced to the American public, for the relief and cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Debilitated Constitution, Weakness of the Lungs, or Consumption in the incipient or advanced stages of the disease, has ever met with the indorsements of physicians or patients as the celebrated "Tolu, Rock and Rye." The repeated and continued sales of the article everywhere are the best evidence of its real merits. Letters and testimonials from every quarter of the country, attesting the stimulating, tonic and healing effects, are in possession of the proprietors, and can be adduced to convince the most skeptical reader of its intrinsic virtues. Further commendation is unnecessary and superfluous, as a trial of this article, having a pleasant taste and agreeable flavor, will satisfy all those who are afflicted or pining away with pulmonary weakness of the relief to be secured by the use of Tolu, Rock and Rye.—(Chicago Times.)
